

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

A recording/reproducing manage unit 25, in response to an instruction, records the images of program into the recording files in order by changing the target recording file in a predetermined interval. Then the unit 25, in response to another instruction, reproduces the recording files in its recorded order. Thereby a recording/reproducing device of broadcasting signals of the invention can complete reproduction of a program at almost the same timing as an end time of real broadcasting of the program, even if the reproduction is started a long time behind the starting of the real broadcasting of the program.